'Y' DORMITORY MEN STAGE A 'TOWN MEETING'

"Mayor" Clark W. Hildreth Presides at Dinner Session Enteratinment Make the Evening Enjoyable

Members of the Y. M. C. A. dormitory organization, known as the "Y Village," gathered last evening in the association hall in what was termed a "town meeting" under the direction of Clark W. Hildreth, "Mayor" of the village and, considering the fact that this is the first meeting of its kind held in the history of the organization, a most successful affair was sponsored.

Songs with plenty of volume, speaking, but not too much of that, solos, the like were both mystifying and entertaining, and a general spirit of cordiality marked the banquet which was arranged under the direction of E. H. Beck, men's secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

Clark W. Hildreth was toastmaster. Guests included Miss Kathryn Cox, recent winner of the "Miss White Plains" beauty title, James Stevenson, president of the Y. M. C. A., and T. H. Files, chairman of the Y. M. C. A. house committee.

Both Mr. Stevenson and Mr. Files spoke briefly, the substance of their remarks being that the spirit of friendliness and co-operation was all needed to make the Y. M. C. A. continue its progress in the future as it has done in the past.

An extensive program of entertainment was carried out at the conclusion of the supper. The Feiowship trio: Carl Richmond, violinist, Charles Locke, 'cello, and J. B. Berkoehl, pianist, gave several selections that were favorably received. Henry Ebeling, E. H. Denman, physical instructor of the Y. M. C. A., Miss Cox and Mr. Hildreth sang solos.

Additional features of the entertainment were animal imitations and card tricks by Gus De Vitis, accordion solos by William Rhind.

The tables were arranged so that the occupants of each floor were seated at a table during the course of the evening, singing contests were led by Frank Gardner Smith, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and it was generally agreed that the fourth floor dormitory occupants were by far the most tuneful and lusty of the singers.

Much of the success of the dinner was due to the efficient service rendered by the girls who served. They included the Misses Gertrude Ehrhart, Mary Louise Else, Ethel Sanford, Sally Hodgdon, Dorothy Jahn and Josephine Files. Miss E. Spendley, Mrs. Walter Rogers and Mrs. G. Weber superintended the serving of the meal.

SHACK BURNED

Fire Destroys Play Shack of Brookfield Street Children; Cause of Blaze Unknown

Fire late yesterday afternoon destroyed a children's play shack in the rear of 114 Brookfield street.

The alarm sent in from Box 32 at Martine avenue and Brookfield street, was answered by Truck 1, Engines 2, 4 and 5 and the Patrol under Lieut. Eugene Sayre.

The cause of the blaze is unknown, although firemen who found an oil stove thought that children playing here had probably set it on fire. The rear of an adjoining building was not burned.

"Cy" Howe Succeeds Emmerick On Press

Robert J. Emmerick, who has been assistant advertising manager of The Daily Press since its inception on April 1, has been promoted to the position of advertising manager of The Daily Times in Mamaroneck and assumed his duties today. Mr. Emmerick has a host of friends in White Plains who will, no doubt, be pleased to learn of his new enterprise. Prior to coming to this new newspaper, he was associated with The Observer-Dispatch in Utica, N. Y.

Cyrus Howe has been appointed as assistant advertising manager of The Daily Press in Mr. Emmerick's place.

BANANA CARRIERS STRIKE

Kingston, Jamaica, May 28 (UP).—Banana carriers were on strike for more wages today for loading fruit ships. They are now said to be getting eighty-five cents for loading 100 bunches.

Was On Water Wagon But Police Said He Was Drunk; Arrested

Hartford, Conn., May 28 (UP)—Janifer Grant was on the water wagon. That's where police found him.

But police said he was drunk, Grant was arrested on a charge that hasn't been preferred in local police court in years, that of "driving a horse-drawn vehicle while under the influence of liquor."

ASSAULT CASE

Grand Jury Deliberating on Ossining Negro Charged With Slashing Wife

Held by Police Justice Valentine of Ossining on a second-degree assault charge, the case of Henry Caudle, negro, of a'Ver street, Ossining, is being considered today by the May Grand Jury. Several alleged witnesses to the assault are present from Ossining.

Caudle is charged with having slashed his wife, Leola Caudle, with a knife three weeks ago. He waived examination and was ordered held for the Grand Jury on the assault charge. Jealousy is said to have been the motive back of the assault by Caudle on his wife who has since been released from the hospital where she was taken immediately after the attack.

Nine Convicts, First Pleading Innocence, Change Minds And Are Sentenced by Judge Close

Re-appear Before County Court Because of Technicality in Former Arraignments. Sentence Deferred in Case of Samuel Wallace.

Nine convicts from Great Meadows Prison who had previously pleaded not guilty to indictments returned against them changed their minds during last week and were before County Court Judge Frederick P. Close yesterday for sentence. The men were brought back for re-sentence because of a technicality in their former arraignments. In each case where sentence was passed today, with one exception, Judge Close gave the same sentence as originally imposed, with credit for time served and for good behavior.

William Phipps, of Peekskill, pleaded guilty to a serious offense against a young woman of that village last year. He is 21, a native of Niagara Falls, and a laborer. He stated he is temperate but his record showed several prior convictions. He was remanded for sentence later.

Gets Eight Years

Anthony Parsons, negro, pleaded guilty to third degree burglary and to second-degree assault and was sentenced to five years on the first and three years on the second. He was born in Mamaroneck, is 20, and his last address was 499 Fifth avenue, New Rochelle. He is a laborer, single and served time in New Rochelle in 1919 for an offense which, he said today, he "forgot to remember."

Frank Perna, of 343 Mosher street, Greenwich, pleaded guilty to third degree burglary in Port Chester in April, 1928. He was assigned counsel in Thomas F. J. Connolly of Port Chester. Perna is single, a laborer, and said he was temperate. Sentence was deferred.

George A. Conklin, 50, of North Salem, pleaded guilty to a serious offense against a woman of that town, and was sentenced to from five to 10 years.

Samuel Wallace, who said he was from Chicago, pleaded guilty to grand larceny in the second degree. A special plea for leniency for Wallace, who is only 21, but a second offender, was made by Probation Officer Lester Decker, who said the youth had been studying in prison, had the offer of a good job, and had shown himself anxious to make up for his crimes.

Judge Close deferred sentence after Wallace had told the court: "I realize what chump I have been and intend to go straight from now on."

Robert Hill, a glass worker of Bellefonte, Penna., pleaded guilty to forgery in the third degree and was sentenced to five years with credit for time already served. Hill pleaded for leniency but Judge Close said he could show no discrimination in such cases brought back on technicalities.

James H. Thomas, of Portsmouth, Va., pleaded guilty to forgery in the third degree and was given the same sentence as formerly, from two and one half to five years. He pleaded that he was in prison only because he hadbroken his parole and gone to Atlantic City instead of remaining in this state, but Judge Close refused to extend any leniency.

James Wesley, 41, of New York City, pleaded guilty to burglary in the third degree and was sentenced to five years each on two counts, the sentences to run concurrently Wesley had burglarized the Booth and Scott homes in Mamaroneck in 1928 and was originally sentenced for these crimes in November of that year. He admitted two previous convictions, both for burglary.

GUILTY

Peekskill Man Admits Assault Charge in Court; Local Man Pleads Not Guilty

William Johnson, 1014 Main street, Peekskill, pleaded guilty yesterday in County Court to the indictment charging him with second-degree assault and was remanded for sentence later.

Johnson is 20; and a chef. He is single and said he had reached the third year in high school. He declared he had no former criminal record.

Tony Simonetti, White Plains, also was arraigned for pleading. He pleaded not guilty and was remanded for trial. His bail was continued. He is represented by Stephen R. J. Roach, White Plains.

SEVERE STORMS IN FRANCE

Paris, May 28 (UP)—Severe thunderstorms throughout France have caused damage to life and property during the last forty-eight hours. Two soldiers were killed by lightning near Nancy. A church at Neuilhan was destroyed by lightning and two others were damaged at Chinon and Tence.

"GRANDMA'S" BIG DAY

New Haven, Conn., May 28 (UP)—"Grandma" Ottilie Christine Provo, 75, was "resting up" at her home in Woodmont today after a big day. "Grandma" accomplished two life long ambitions in one day yesterday, taking a ride in an airplane at Bethany field and viewing a professional boxing match at the arena.
