Dealings in New York Stocks

Washington (UP)—Two years have made a big difference in the importance to American of Ramsey MacDonald. He came and left in 1927 with the barest mention in the newspapers. Now he comes with the eyes of the nation trained on him as he moves through the elaborate formal entertainment program arranged for him.

MacDonald was vaguely known as a Socialist. Just about the time the great Collier Weekly was at an interview, in which MacDonald was represented as saying that he could visit with his only son at that trip, so far as he knows. He was Secretary of Commerce then and the most senior British and a friendship began which has continued since by mail.

misguided municipal taxpayer and for that reason have incorporated that same into one of Democracy's staunch planks. The strange but pathetic spectacle of Assessor Wides has revealed on the witness stand during the Untermeyer investigation has given us much food for thought and caused us to speak with my good friend Walter Hogan a box of Havana, that the main topic that applies to the city of White Plains is the tax and assessment situation.

That trip was called by MacDonald a sentimental journey. It was taken for rest and to make a pilgrimage to the home of Miss L. S. W. P. Hogan, an aged lady who had been hostess to MacDonald and his bride when they came to America in their honeymoon in 1897. He found her an invalid and so feeble that he could visit with her only at intervals. It was a tragedy for MacDonald, for he still mourned the loss of his wife, who died during his earliest hours when he was confined to his bed. Britain's entry into the world war.

The trip also ended in his serious illness in Philadelphia, where he remained nearly a month before being able to return to England. He was referred to as "Ramsey" and "Doc" by his friends.

When MacDonald became ill, his daughter labored under the speaking engagements for him. She suggested the Education Culture Society of Philadelphia for him, saying:

"The Democratic candidates have already declared their independence. The Republican candidates will make this same declaration in our name. This part of the platform is half and dime and at least one issue."

MacDonald made no important speeches in this country. He avoided discussion of public affairs except to say, after calling on President Coolidge, that moral disarmament would be the best means of actual disarmament. This was just before the Geneva arms conference.

"There was no inuendo in the platform that Mr. Henry B. Barrett was a politician of the 'plug ugly' type. I have personally never met Mr. Barrett but I have read a lot about him, particularly in respect to the land investigation. I have observed his picture in The Daily Press and stand ready to testify that he certainly is not a 'plug ugly.' I will say for the record that he is a reputable citizen of the community, courageous and honest in his attitude as reflected in his testimony. The Democratic candidate for the office of Mayor, Frederick C. McLaughlin, who is a good government and anti-partisan press of the city of New York City, is a progressive and dominant issue appealing to good citizenship. I am proud to be a citizen of this city, and I am proud to be a citizen of this city."

Advertisements Are A Guide To Value

EXPERTS can roughly estimate the value of a product by looking at it. More accurately, by handling and examining it. Its appearance, its texture, the "feel" and the balance of it all mean something to their trained eyes and fingers.
