LILLIAN WATSON FATALLY BURNED

Former Member of Rorick's Glen Opera Company in Bad Hotel Fire in Chester, Pa.

TRYING TO SAVE SON Singer With "Vanity Fair" Company May Lose Life as Result of Injuries Sustained—Resided on Oak Street While Here

Mrs. Lillian Watson, who for the past year has called this city her home, was probably fatally burned early Sunday morning in a fire which broke out in the Arcade Hotel, one of the largest in Chester, Pa.

Mrs. Watson, according to the reports received here, sustained her injuries while trying to rescue her son. The boy was saved, however, by a friend, and is unharmed.

Mrs. Watson was in the chorus of the Manhattan Opera Company at Rorick's Glen last summer. She remained her until late in August, when she went to New York City. Her little son, who is now in Elmira, is a fine looking little chap.

While in this city Mrs. Watson and the little boy made their home with Mrs. Delbert Herkimer of Oak Street. Mrs. Herkimer said this morning that she had recently read from Mrs. Watson, the "Vanity Fair" company was playing at that time in Reading, Pa.

Mrs. Watson intended to go last night to Newark, N. J., where "Vanity Fair" will be given this week. It is not known whether any other members of the company were at the hotel when the fire broke out.

Other hotel guests were badly injured and one, John Conley, was killed by jumping from a third story window. The hotel is said to have been a veritable firetrap, having few fire escapes.

A further account of the fire states that John Conley, who was killed by a jump to the pavement, was the leading comedian of the show and a head with E. K. Shaw of Reed & Shaw, acrobats, and watched Shaw jump from the third story window dived up like a ball, catch a trolley wheel and after whirling around it for an instant, drop lightly to the ground. He tried the same feat but missed the wire and died three hours later.

Mrs. Lillian Watson, who had just returned from Elmira where she had gone for her infant son, the report says, appeared at a window with the child in her arms. After a moment she disappeared from the window.

Policeman Scott climbed to the window at which the mother had appeared. He found the mother pressing her baby's face into a pillow to save it from suffocation and attempting to fight her way through the burning stairways. He took the baby out and Fire Chief McCarty rescued the mother. Mrs. Watson is in the Chester Hospital suffering from very severe burns, Watson's child was cared for while in this city by Mrs. Herkimer. Mrs. Watson traveled in the "Vanity Fair" company as Miss Watson and this was her name while a member of the Rorick's Glen troupe last summer.

Mrs. Herkimer received this morning from Miss Belle Elston, the leading lady of the company in Newark, N. J., stating that Mrs. Watson was in the Chester, Pa., Hospital. Mr. Herkimer left this noon for Chester to see that the injured woman is properly cared for and that her little boy is also in good hands.

TRIES TO KILL HIS EMPLOYER

James Gilhousen, a Lumber Camp Man, in Jail in Coudersport—Bullet Goes Wild

Coudersport, March 4.—James Gilhousen, an employe of Smith Brother's lumber camp at Lyman Run, Potter County, has been lodged in jail here. He is accused of attempting to kill Charles Smith.

It is alleged that Gilhousen, when reprimanded by Roy Smith for over-driving a team, secured a shotgun and, concealing it under his coat, entered the office at the camp and demanded his time of Charles Smith. Roy Smith, with whom Gilhousen had previously had words, was not being present.

Mr. Smith replied that he had no authority to pay him, at which Gilhousen snapped the hammer of the gun and was in the act of raising it when three or four men, employes of the camp who were present, grasped the weapon which was discharged, the ball taking effect in the heel of William Horton, leaving an ugly hole in that member and badly shattering the bones.

Gilhousen attempted to run, but was caught by the men and bound hand and foot until Ross Crippen from Galeton arrived and took him in charge.

STATE COMMISSION OF PRISONS RECOMMENDS TWO WORKHOUSES

They Would Take the Place of the Present County Penitentiaries—State Should Repeal Long Terms for Minors Convicted of Felony—Recommends Amendment of Indeterminate Sentence

Albany, March 4.—In its twelfth annual report to the Legislature made public today, the State Commission of Prisons recommends the establishment of two up-state workhouses, to be under the jurisdiction of the state superintendent of prisons, to take the place of the present county penitentiaries.

The commission also recommends the repeal of the law relating to state prisoners, except those convicted of murder in the first degree; the amendment of the indeterminate sentence law so that the difference between the minimum and maximum sentence shall not in any case be less than a year; inspection of police stations, town and city lockups; appropriations for the Eastern Reformatory at Nanauoch and the tuberculosis hospital at Dannemora; making mandatory the separation of minor and adult prisoners in county jails.

The commission reports 2,466 inmates in state prisons; 1,675 in reformatories for males; 485 in houses of refuge for women; 1,978 in penitentiaries; 4,011 in county jails, total 11,505, showing a decrease of over 1,100 when compared with the preceding year. According to the report, 34,577 prisoners were admitted to the prisons of the state during the past year.

The cost of maintaining Auburn, Clinton and Sing Sing state prisons during the year was $503,448 as against $486,683 the preceding year. During the year these institutions earned $137,105, a slight decrease when compared with the previous years' earnings of $138,326.
