

AN ADDRESS ON DOMESTIC SCIENCE

Miss Browning of Cornell, Explained Its Principles to Tourist Club.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS PRESENT

Science of Dressing, Cooking, Shelter, House Decoration, Etc., so Interested the Letter They Want Such a Course Here.

Miss Clara W. Browning, a representative from the Home Economics Department at Cornell University, addressed the members of The Tourist Club, and their guests, the holders of Ladies' tickets from the Deerpark Club, and the teachers and girls of the High School, at Deerpark Club Hall, Wednesday afternoon.

The regular session of the Tourist Club was held at three o'clock, the president, Mrs. Stephen St. John, presiding. After routine business, Mrs. St. John spoke of attending the convention of the Federation of Women's Clubs at Albany last week and there meeting Miss Clara W. Browning, the speaker of the afternoon. She then introduced Miss Browning, who by her enthusiasm in her subject, held the interest of the girls and women for about an hour and a half.

Miss Browning first spoke of having found some years ago a little book, (Ruskin's "Ethics of the Dust"), which greatly interested her, and she read some extracts from it which bore directly on the subject in hand. A teacher and some girls are discussing three virtues. The first is that of being so intensely happy in the readiness of hands, feet and voice to help others. The second virtue is that of always being dressed attractively, which means sensibly, quietly, and with simplicity of style and trimming. Cooking, he mentions as the third virtue. And under this head he classed the economy of our grandmothers with the science of today.

The English thoroughness with the French Art and the Arabian hospitality. In short each one is to be a "lady" in the sense of helping others, having something nice to put on and of giving them something nice to eat. These three virtues really comprise Home Economics, but they, each one, are composed of many other subjects which are included in the four years' college course of Home Economics.

During the first two years' college girls study Physics, Chemistry, Biology, Bacteriology. In order to talk intelligently one must know of the chemistry of the foods and learn to apply to every day life at home and on the street the theories of these subjects as learned in the laboratories. One must study Physiology to understand the human body and its needs; Bacteriology, to know what real cleanliness is and how to apply it. These sciences help in the cooking and planning of meals. Sewing means a study of the various kinds of dress goods and the proper planning and combining into wearing apparel. Shelter also is considered, learning the proper planning of homes to save steps, fuel, etc. House decorations gives a study of simple, not extravagant, things wherewith our homes may be made beautiful.

The purpose of this group of subjects is that we may have better homes; know how to use intelligently the many improvements which we have; that better environments may make better characters for our people and a better nation. Our grandmothers did as well with their conditions as we may be doing with ours. But each generation has so many more advantages and inventions that the people of this generation ought to accomplish more than the last and help to carry on the good work started by our parents and grandparents. The world must progress and each one has some work to do for its advancement.

Miss Browning spoke of the Farmers' Convention held at Cornell each year about February first, where for a week people from all over the state assemble to see the exhibits and hear the lectures on Farming, Sanitation and Domestic Science. There is a Farmers' Reading Course which sends out to those applying, bulletins of general information interesting to those in every home. The opportunities to young women who have graduated from the Home Economics Department are great. There are positions with excellent salaries, such as teachers, superintendents of cafeterias, tea rooms, and the planning of meals for patients in the hospitals and many other equally good positions.

A general discussion followed and Miss Browning answered many questions propounded. When she inquired how many of the High School girls would like a course of Domestic Science installed in the curriculum of the school, almost every hand was raised, and many of the girls were very enthusiastic and remained to speak with Miss Browning after the close of the meeting.

While in Port Jervis Miss Browning was the guest of the Misses Anna and Genevieve Bullivant.

1200 CASES OF TOMATOES SEIZED
Were Stored at Newburgh With Labels Not Complying With Law.

Because a lazy printer left out the words "Packed for" and an incompetent proof reader failed to catch the omission on labels which were to be placed on tomatoes packed for the New Hartford Canning Company, of New Hartford, N. Y., 1,200 cases of tomatoes were seized on Friday at the Newburgh storehouse of G. E. Howard & Company on an order issued by the Federal Court. The seizure was made by United States Marshal William Henkel.

Explaining the seizure Mr. Howard said that when the labels were printed they should have borne the words "Packed for" to comply with the provisions of the Federal Pure Food Law. He said that the case is one of technical violation only and that the goods will not be confiscated or destroyed. Instead the labels on the cans in the 1,200 cases will be stripped and the words "packed for" will be added with a rubber stamp. Then the seized goods will be placed on the market.

G. E. Howard & Company incidentally are freed from all blame in the matter by the Federal Court. The company merely stored the cases for the New Hartford Canning Company of which the late Vice-President James S. Sherman was the head.

ASSEMBLYMAN EVANS ILL,
Sullivan County's Representative Couldn't Attend Dinner in His Honor.

South Fallsburgh, Nov. 20.—Tuesday night there was a big dinner given at the Hotel Ryan here, in honor of Assemblyman Evans, of this district. Fifty persons were present. A. Rosenstraus was toastmaster.

Among those who were called upon and delivered addresses at the conclusion of the banquet were District Attorney George L. Cooke, Assemblyman-elect W. T. Doty, of the second district of Orange county; Sheriff Kinzie, County Clerk George D. Pelton and A. M. Scriber, of Monticello.

The committee in charge of the affair was composed of George J. Kling and Arch. Rosenstraus, of this village.

It was expected that Assemblyman Evans would be present, until a dispatch was received from him, in New York, stating that he had been taken suddenly ill in that city and was in a hospital.

A 255 Pound Bear Killed.

Philip T. Wright, of Warwick, while visiting his cousin, Marcus Kimball, of Stockholm, last week, went out hunting Saturday night with young Kimball and Jesse Crane, of Stockholm. They ranged the woods and swamps north of Stockholm, penetrating the big swamp that lies between the Clinton reservoir and Dunder pond, a few miles south from Wawayanda Lake. While in this swamp the dogs tread a bear which the hunters brought down with two shots. After he struck the ground the bear showed spirit and an axe finally dispatched him. The bear weighed 255 pounds.

Big Orange Shipment Arrived.

New York fruit buyers have come to terms with the fruit brokers, as to the cost of cartage over which there was a dispute, and the 150 carloads of oranges in the Erie's freight terminal, the first shipment of the season from California, will be taken care of. There is an immense crop of California oranges. The refusal of New York buyers to pay increased cartage rates threatened to leave the big shipment to rot. The matter was settled at a meeting between the buyers and the distributors who employ the cartmen.

"There could be no better medicine than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," my children were all sick with whooping cough. One of them was in bed, had a high fever and was coughing up blood. Our doctor gave them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the first dose cured them, and three bottles cured them," says Mrs. R. A. Donaldson, of Lexington, Mass. For sale by All Dealers.—Adv.

AGED FARMER NEAR MILFORD, SLASHES WRISTS AND DIES

Milford, Pa., Nov. 22.—Jacob Orben, for nearly 60 years a prominent and esteemed resident of Dingman township, died at his home on the Log Tavern road at about 10 o'clock Sunday morning from loss of blood as the result of a wound in his wrist, self-inflicted some time during the early morning hours. He was aged 83 years and 7 months.

Mr. Orben, since the death of his wife nearly 16 years ago, had lived alone on a farm adjoining that of his son Edward H. Orben. He was a jovial German, always of a happy disposition and always looking on the bright side of life. Of late he had been in failing health, due to kidney trouble, and was under the care of Dr. Emerson. A little granddaughter discovered the aged man.

To the doctor Mr. Orben admitted that he had cut his wrist, but assigned no reason for his rash act. The cut was made with a razor. It is believed Mr. Orben became despondent over his illness and his mind was affected. That the jolly old German was dead came as a great surprise to his many friends here, where he was a regular weekly visitor.

Mr. Orben was a member of Vandermarck Lodge of Odd Fellows of this place, which he joined in the fall of 1873. In politics he was a staunch Democrat, and for several years served his township as Supervisor; for 15 years he was also a school director.

The funeral was held from the home on Tuesday afternoon at 1.30. Rev. C. A. White officiating. Interment in Milford Cemetery, in charge of the Odd Fellows.

I was so severely troubled by kidney complaint, that more than once I had to crawl on my hands and knees until I was able to reach a chair. The dull pains in the small of my back caused me intense suffering and other symptoms of kidney complaint added to my distress. I was at a loss to know the cause of my complaint until finally noticed that the secretions from my kidneys were unnatural. I began using Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me. RECENT BRIDEGROOM INJURED

J. L. Hayes, of Middletown, in Serious Condition After Auto Accident.

John L. Hayes, of Middletown, district agent for the Rambler Automobile Company, was severely injured on Thursday afternoon, while driving a new car about one mile out of Hudson, on the state road from that city to Scottsville, and lies in a precarious condition in the Hudson Hospital. Mr. Hayes' car skidded as he was trying to pass a wagon and overturned, pinning the three occupants underneath.

An auto party which was behind them, succeeded in extricating the three men from the wreck, and they were hurried to the Hudson Hospital.

There it was found that Mr. Hayes was the most seriously injured of the three. He suffered internal injuries about the stomach; one leg was crushed, and the right arm and shoulder were broken. The doctors were of the opinion that the right arm would have to be amputated.

The other occupants of the car were not injured so badly, and were able to go to their homes the next day.

Mrs. Hayes, who was Miss Edith Higham, of Middletown, and to whom Mr. Hayes was wedded two weeks ago Thursday, was notified of the accident, and left for Hudson Thursday afternoon.
