Forty Years Ago

June 8, 1887: The Fourth of July falls on Monday this year. Judge Smith and family of Buffalo are in town. Geo. Z. Erwin and Geo. N. Curtis were in town last Friday. Miss Eva Austin left Monday for a visit to her grandparents at Clayton. Depyster now enjoys telephonic communication with her sister towns. Normal school girls will serve as waitresses at the Thousand Island Park hotel this season. Mrs. A. P. Kilmer leaves in a few days for an extended trip west, visiting relatives and friends. Mrs. Alda Palmer of Hammond is spending a few days in town, the guest of Mrs. C. H. Bowen. Mrs. Taylor O. Bogert of Scotland, N. Y., is expected here within a few days, on a visit to her parents and friends. Ex-President Hayes and his son passed through this place yesterday on the 10:33 a. m. train on their way to Madison, Wis. Secretary of Ex-Vice President William A. Wheeler. Mrs. Louis Eckmann had the misfortune to receive quite a bad cut on the head yesterday afternoon. While sitting in the hammock the rope broke, letting a heavy piece of timber, to which the hammock was fastened, fall upon her head. Robert H. Adams, brakeman on the O. & L. C. railroad, died in Ogdensburg last Saturday evening of lockjaw, which was brought on by an injury to his hand about two weeks before. The remains were interred yesterday at Lisbon, where his family resided. A young man named Frank White, formerly of Norfolk and who had been employed in the employ of Mr. McCarthy at Norwood, went in bathing in the Racquet river last Sunday afternoon. Getting beyond his depth he was swept around the remains of the dam near the old Union Mills and was drowned. His body has not been found.

Thirty-Five Years Ago

June 8, 1892: Park Street has been involved by the situation of a good allowance of rain. The Gouverneur steam laundry, which for the past several years has been conducted by Lawrence B. Parks in the old Gouverneur Union Academy brick building in John Street, at the rear of the present Gouverneur Savings & Loan association, has been sold to Mr. E. Marsh of this village. Mr. Marsh already has taken possession of the business. The sale was made through the H. C. Boyd real estate company. The sale recalled to older residents of the village and surrounding section the early history of the building, which was erected as the first high school in Gouverneur in 1857. A history, prepared by Mrs. C. A. Parker and published in 1889, says this: During the year of 1828, the irrepresentable desire for a high school or seminary, was gratified. The subject had long agitated the gravest minds; parents were anxious for the education of their children, and their left homes, where these privileges were enjoyed, they could be satisfied with nothing less in the new colony. Some there were unable to keep pace with the times, who were afraid of fostering feelings of arrogance in the community by this upward movement. But in the words of another they were to be ashamed of their fears and become the firmest supporters of the new institution. The people were still poor in purse, but privations had become familiar, and a judicious loan was all that was required to render the plans feasible. The Baptist and Presbyterian churches were enclosed and a brick schoolhouse in course of erection. Ewell E. Smith was the contractor for this building at $273. The masonry was done by Samuel Rounds, and the carpenters were John Robertson and John Turner. The old clock dial was retained by a man named Haven, a cabinet maker then in town. That the work was done can be attested by a glance at the premises forty-six years ago. The date of its completion, after enduring the batterings of teachers and scholars, the building is still in a good state of preservation, and having lately been sold to Oliver Sprague Esq., he has fitted it up as a grocery and dwelling, and the old brick walls have still a comely look, though somewhat antiquated in style. A second story was added to the original plan by private subscription, and by this means more than $500 were raised, and late in the year the top story was devoted to academic instruction, and called the Gouverneur Union Academy. The first teacher on the ground floor was Mrs. A. Z. Madison, formerly Maria Vary who died in Fredonia, N. Y., about one year since. A letter from Mr. Ewell E. Smith kindly furnished us by Mr. George Miller, we are informed that masons, carpenters and painters are all dead, the contractor alone with his assistant landmark survives. The old dial is now in the possession of George Miller, Esq., and hangs near his place of business. The old clock dial is a memento of olden times and older days of school life and school sports and of many who are forever fled from the earth, but who are remembered in the academic department. The academic department was first taught by a gentleman named Rager, a brother of William Rager, compiler of Rager's Arithmetic, and who may have been a mathematician, proved as knotty as any mathematician we have at the late date of a fountain of sympathy for the unfortunate students placed under his tuition. In 1857 the school was re-organized under the title of Gouverneur High School. Nine trustees were elected in April of that year. Dr. John Spencer, who in his family had been foremost in the interest of the school, was one of the first officers of the institution, and the first of the trustees. The others were H. B. Smith, David Burrill, Aaron Miller, H. W. Smith, John Smith, Robert Conant, Joel Keys and Al-

Miss E. May Mason of Depyster

visited relatives and friends in this village last week. Dr. Stark of Ocean Grove, N. J., has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. C. G. Thompson. L. C. Sutton, editor of the Northern Observer of Massena, was in Gouverneur last week. Several Gouverneur residents are putting their summer cottages in order for early occupancy. Among the houses which are being improved by a coat of paint are T. J. Whitney's, S. W. Payne's, Col. Keene's and Dr. Carpenter's. L. M. Keene's house is also having the addition of a piazza in front. Cards have been received here by the friends of Rev. Thos. C. Miller, formerly of Hammond, announcing his marriage on June 16th, at Rutgers Riverdale church, New York City, to Miss Alice Eugenia Ketcham, Rev. Mr. Miller is now located in Binghamton, N. Y. He was an old time student of G. W. Seminary and old friends and classmates will extend their congratulations. Dr. C. W. Barber has recovered from several weeks of sickness and is now settling again in his old office in the Abbott block where he was located before going to Carthage. Dr. Barber has practiced dentistry in this place for twenty years past, and he has many old friends and customers who will be glad to know that he has decided to locate here permanently. He is now ready to receive his friends and all wishing dental work done. Mrs. Levi N. Smith, 2d, is quite ill from the effects of the bite of a common spider received on her arm a few days since. A seal has been sent sporting in the waters of the St. Lawrence in the vicinity of Round Island. A long white plume has adorned the head gear of Hon. D. Peck for years past, announcing an emphatic preference for Blaine. John L. McBride is soon to open a baker's shop in the Abbott block. James Kennedy of this village has purchased a building lot of Miss Parker.

SWAN SUGGESTS A MONUMENT TO PETER VAN BUREN

"My Subscription for This Purpose is Waiting the Start of Movement," Formed Gouverneur Resident Declares.

By William R. Swan
The automaton has certainly brought the people of the country closer together. The rural districts are almost a part of our cities, so to speak. Today it is no great effort to run over and see our cousins and our aunts thirty, forty or more miles distant, and it is no where near the exertion and making of plans and arrangements for a longer trip covering mileage into other states. The tourists on pleasure beat visit localities that were almost impossible to reach without great effort and expense forty years ago. It is not wanderlust, simply our present generation want to see and know their country, and it is easily done. Whenever the new comer travels, east, west or south he is observing the changes of country. The particular thing that attracts his attention going through western Massachusetts is the Berkshire hills, with their towering pine covered crests, and then when he ends the day's drive in some city or town, he is interested in some mark of distinction that forty years ago he would not have seen in Auburn, N. Y., not meaning of course the prison. There may be some monument in the central square of the town to carry the memory of some patriot or celebrity, as for instance that of Senator S. S. Cox in Utica. These things are impressed on his mind. He carries the memory in years after when certain facts of our past are discussed, he will remark: "Yes, that is where they have the huge great windmill atop the town hall, remember that, sister?" The writer of this has travelled some miles, not by automobile in particular, but he has been in many states, and he has met a goodly number of people. It is with a pleasure to talk with new acquaintances of their native states, and of the town or city from whence they came. I may know something of that town, or city, or state, and I will remark: "Yes, that is where they have the huge great windmill atop the town hall, remember that, sister?"

OLD STEAM LAUNDRY, SOLD DURING PAST WEEK, WAS FIRST HIGH SCHOOL HERE

Brick Building in John Street Was Erected in 1826 at a Cost of $873 Was Long Used as School Building.

PSYCHOLOGY

Just found one more milk bottle back of Roy Enos' store; carried it around three days before I ran across a milkman to give it to. To guess, I think I have returned a hundred bottles without reward. Found two pounds of copper wire this morning. Bun will get a quarter for this. Doing a lot of little jobs for people at about half a dollar. Well, have a nice business, making more money now than I am worth to this community and few little stunts at cost or free don't hurt my earning power one bit. I never studied psychology (if the printer don't know how to spell this word it will be wrong, for I don't) nor I never looked up the meaning of it in the dictionary, nor do one ever tell me I just doped my understanding of it from the way other people use it. Maybe I am wrong, but it won't be the first time I was wrong. I can back up and go the other way quicker than any man I ever met. I want some more coal orders. It is as cheap as it has been or will be so far as I know. W. S. CORBIN.
