

THE WINGS OF LOVE.

TABERNACLE SERMON ON THE EXPERIENCE OF RUTH.

The Original Sermon and the Messenger's Sermon on the Wings of Love. Ruth had become a voluntary exile for love, and her husband was dead.

Brooklyn, Sept. 14.—The subject of the discourse by Dr. Talnage today was "Wings of Love," the famous preacher taking for his text the words, "The Lord God of Israel, under whose wings thou art come to trust."—Ruth II, 12.

Scene.—An Oriental harvest field. Grain standing. Grain in swath. Grain in sheaves.

At the side of the field a white tent which to take the noonday, fare of vinegar or of your wine to quench the thirst of the day. Ruth had come to trust. Ruth had come to trust. Ruth had come to trust.

I know not what her features were, but when she looked back behind a woman's face from the lamp of courage and faith and self sacrifice there comes out a glory independent of features. She is to be the ancestor of Jesus Christ.

I ask your attention, therefore, while, taking the suggestion of my text, I speak to you in all simplicity and love of the wings of the Almighty. Ruth had come to trust. Ruth had come to trust.

Sometimes the mother bird goes away from her nest and flies to some strange place that she should leave the young. The plumes he beat into the grain field and into the chaff at the barn door, and he flew to the plough fur. Meanwhile, the bird in the nest stiver and complain and all and wonder why the mother bird does not come back.

Yes, they are very broad! There is room under those wings for the million hundred millions of the race. Yes, they are very broad! There is room under those wings for the million hundred millions of the race.

The Arabian gazelle is swift as the wind. It is not a single glimpse of the hunter. It is not a single glimpse of the hunter. It is not a single glimpse of the hunter.

and shall, will vent thundering down toward the battle field. He said that it stopped not any evening. They held up for support. They were on fire with the speed as they dashed past.

So, my friends, there are times in our lives when we must have help immediately or perish. The grace that comes too late is no grace at all. What you and I want is a God—now. Oh, is it not blessed to think that God is always in such quick pursuit of his dear children?

It is my life to preach it. It is my life to preach it. It is my life to preach it. It is my life to preach it.

the thousands of thousands, come under! You fly over them and are undimmed. And yet there is room! Al! God would build all the angels were his wings compassed he must make other worlds, and people them with other myriads, and have other conceptions and judgment days, for broader than all these things, though thought wide as eternity, from tip to tip, are the wings of the Almighty! Oh under such provision as that can you not refuse? Could you, ye wandering, ye weary, ye troubled, ye sinning, ye dying souls! Come under the wings of the Almighty. Whosoever will come, he can come. However ragged, however wretched, however alienated, however wo-begone, there is room enough under the wings—under the broad wings of the Almighty! Oh, I remark further, carrying out the line of my text, that the wings under which Ruth had come to trust were very broad wings. There have been eagle-like wings, but they have been feet from tip to tip. When the king of the air alights on the wing, he spreads out all the eagle in the air, and with the eagle's feet, he spreads out all the eagle in the air, and with the eagle's feet, he spreads out all the eagle in the air.
