Religious Bigotry Denounced

Some things which Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio said in his speech in Kentucky recently are so much to the point at this time when the world needs to bury prejudices based on religious or racial grounds, that we venture to quote his remarks here:
'In America many hostile people have learned to respect each other's beliefs and to conduct a democratic government without oppressing those with different beliefs. But we do have a tendency, perhaps reflected from Europe, to build up prejudice against men because of their religion.
'It is said that a man cannot be elected to office because he is not one of the majority; and there are those who deliberately try to spread that kind of prejudice. It is contrary to every principle of the American Constitution. It can have no purpose except to destroy the inalienable rights guaranteed to every citizen. It looks to the same kind of oppressions and persecutions of minorities which we see today in Germany and Russia. Democracy itself cannot long exist if minority rights are destroyed.
Any man born in the United States can be elected to any office, whether he be Protestant, Catholic or Jew, provided only that his political views meet the approval of a majority of the electorate. The United States of America has always been and must remain, the citadel of religious freedom and religious toleration.'
It is hard to see how any American who sincerely believes in the principles of democracy can fail to endorse Mr. Taft's statements. Nothing can so certainly undermine the very foundations of the American system than to deprive or attempt to deprive any citizen of his full and equal rights because he professes a different religion, descends from a different race or speaks the language of his country with an unfamiliar accent.

COMMUNISM - a system of government which has been adopted in Russia and which the Russians are trying to export to the rest of the world. It means a complete change from that to which we are accustomed. The Russian system is actually not one of the common ownership of property in Russia, but a system of the masses of the people controlled by a small group called the Communist Party. Membership is limited. Whenever the Party gets too large the leaders kill off a few thousand, so that control in a small and efficient group.

'Chief' Grateful To Well-Wishers

To the Editor, Newark Union-Gazette. Dear Sir: Through your publication I wish to express my sincere appreciation to the people of Newark for the many kind comments and expressions tendered me recently on my retirement as Chief of Police. The fine things printed and said about me and my long police career overwhelmed and overjoyed me more than I can say. Especially do I wish to thank the sponsors of the surprise banquet given me, the Village Board for its splendid resolution tendered me, and all of my friends, whom I never knew were so numerous and whose kind remembrances will lighten my life through the remainder of whatever may be in store for me. S. S. LESSON FOR WEEK Welles Data Seen Valuable In Determining U. S. Course

By REV. ROBERT H. HARPER
Lesson for April 14: Hosea 6: 1-7; 14: 4-9.
Golden Text: 1 John 1: 9.
When a general, who had served in the federal army, was censured because he received his erring wife back to his home, he said he knew of no law of God or man that made it a heinous thing for a man to forgive a woman. Twenty-seven centuries before, Hosea had forgiven faithless Gomer and read in his own tragic experience a parable of Israel's apostasy and God's forgiving love.
Many references in his prophecy indicate that Hosea was a native of the Northern Kingdom. A young contemporary of Amos and older contemporary of Isaiah and Micah, he probably began his ministry in the middle of the eighth century. B. C. He labored during the reigns of several kings of Judah and Israel but the conditions he denounced were greatly aggravated in the turbulent period that followed the death of Jeroboam II.
His denunciation of existing evils was similar to that of Amos, but the latter emphasized the justice of God while Hosea emphasized the divine love.
The first section of the lesson text deals with a backsliding people who were warned that they could not gain the divine favor in mere religious observances. The second section presents a beautiful picture of God's grace under the figure of the springtime. Springtime will come again to every soul that truly turns to God.
If the tragic picture of evil conditions in Hosea's time seems strangely modern, let us know that bad things of the present are offensive unto God and that our people must first return unto him if they would make things better. And surely the man who returns from the sorrow and tragedy of the years to the Father's house will be forgiven.
