Largest Circulation in Town or County

GOVERNOR ROOSEVELT attended a banquet in Buffalo, Monday evening.

MASS MEETINGS are being held in nearly all the large cities of the country to indorse President McKinley's policy in the Philippines and every where the support of his course is most enthusiastic.

AGUINALDO IS reported as beginning to believe that conquering the United States will cause a serious drain on the resources of the islands. Later on he may decide not to conquer the United States at all.

A NATIONAL committee of prominent men has been appointed in Washington to take charge of a fund with which to purchase and fit out a fine home for Admiral Dewey in Washington, as a fitting testimonial of the people's gratitude for his services.

DR. CHARLES A. Briggs was ordained a priest in the Protestant Episcopal church Sunday by Bishop Potter, in New York. Dr. Briggs has won notoriety by his criticisms of the scriptures and is considered a very able man, but not entirely orthodox in his views.

IF WE may judge from the invitations sent him Admiral Dewey will not have to worry about his meals for some time after his return to this country. People evidently believe him to be devoted to his stomach as history records that he stopped a battle to eat his breakfast in peace.

AN ORGANIZATION of Silver Democrats is being formed in New York city for the purpose of securing the delegates to the next national convention. If not successful a contesting delegation will be sent which the leaders of the movement believe will be seated.

A RUMOR was put in circulation Sunday evening that ex-President Cleveland had dropped dead while on a hunting and fishing excursion to an island in lake Erie. There was no foundation for the rumor. At the time referred to—Sunday evening—the worthy ex-president was busily engaged with his companions in a game of pinocle.

POSTMASTER-GENERAL SMITH has issued an order limiting the use of the sign "U. S. Mail" to such street cars as are actually at the time carrying mail. Street car companies have in the past taken advantage of the privilege accorded them of using such signs, in the case of strikes, owing to natural hesitation of the strikers to interfere in any way with "Uncle Sam's property." This they will be unable to do in the future without violating the postal rules.

THE DELAWARE and Hudson Canal Company is making provision against the exhaustion of the coal supply in its mines by setting aside a sinking fund of five cents per ton on all the coal hereafter mined. The total supply in the mines is figured at 223,000,000, tons which at the present rate of mining will last from fifty to sixty years. As this mining property is now carried on the company's books at $12,000,000, it can readily be seen that its exhaustion would leave this asset almost valueless. The sinking fund and interest, however, at the rate of five cents per ton will more than make the amount good. It is a piece of wise financiering.

ALL THE obituaries of the late Mr. Flower agree that he was an optimist, and that he was always ready to bet on the American eagle. He was ever cheerful, hopeful and self-reliant, and he abhorred anything that squinted in the direction of hypocrisy. "Young man," said he to one who asked his advice as to investing in one of the Flower specialties in the stock market, "stop preaching against trusts and look pleasant. If there's a good monopoly around manage to get into it and don't make faces at it." The advice may not have been based on sound economic principles, but it had the merit of being frank, anyway.—Boston Herald.

A TERRIBLE railroad accident occurred on the Philadelphia and Reading railroad at Exeter, a small railroad station near Reading, Friday evening. Twenty-nine persons met their death in the wreck and forty others were more or less seriously injured. On account of the unveiling of the Hartranft monument at Harrisburg, crowds who had been present were on their way home and the Reading train for Philadelphia was run in two sections. At Exeter the first section was stopped and while it was waiting for orders the second train running at the rate of forty miles an hour crashed into it, the locomotive plowing clear through the two rear cars. As usual it seems impossible to fix the responsibility for the accident but the long death list shows all too plainly that somebody had blundered.

THE BROTHERHOOD of Locomotive Engineers has written agreements with ninety per cent of the roads relative to conditions of employment. The insurance branch of the order has paid $8,000,000 to widows and orphans, $4,500 being the limit of insurance given. It is rare to find an engineer who becomes intoxicated. They must be of good moral character. In one year 172 members were expelled from the order. They have convinced the railroads that the order wishes to furnish them with first class men and to expel men for dereliction of duty. They have about ninety per cent of all the locomotive engineers of the country in the order. The total number of engineers in the United States and Canada is 30,000. Only white men are employed, the order not admitting colored men.

The Franchise Tax.

The Ford Franchise Tax bill is still in Governor Roosevelt's hands unsigned The measure was rushed through the closing hours of the session and passed in a very crude form, although embodying a new principle of taxation which is eminently fair and just, and it is probable that he will sign it in its present shape rather than risk a failure to pass a more perfect measure at the next legislative session. It is stated that he is considering the advisability of calling a special session at once to amend the bill now before him if it appears from a canvass of the members that such an amendment can be passed. One thing seems certain and that is that the governor proposes to take no chances in the matter and if prompt action seems unlikely the present bill with all its imperfections will be signed. He evidently believes a bird in hand is worth a whole flock out of his reach in the bush.

Death of Roswell P. Flower.

Ex-Governor Roswell P. Flower died Friday evening at Eastport, L. I., of acute dyspepsia. He was a guest at the Country Club house and had been out fishing. On his return he ate heartily and was attacked suddenly on leaving the table. Medical aid was at once obtained but nothing could be done and at about ten o'clock in the evening he breathed his last in the presence of his wife and members of his family who had been summoned to his bedside. Mr. Flower was not yet sixty-four years of age but a millionaire many times over.

He began life as a poor boy, having been born in Jefferson county, N. Y., August 7, 1835 His father died when he was but eight years of age, leaving him practically dependent on his own resources. As a lad he followed various occupations—clerking, farming, teaching, etc., devoting as much time as he could spare to acquiring an education. His real start in life dates from the time when he secured a clerkship in the postoffice at Watertown, N. Y. During the six years he held this position he saved one thousand dollars with which he bought an interest in a jewelry store. He was successful in business and in 1859 he married the daughter of N. M. Woodruff, of Watertown, and a sister of the wife of Henry Keep, a wealthy railroad man.

In 1869 Mr. Keep became ill and sent for Mr. Flower to come to New York and manage his business affairs. Here he at once became prominent in business and political circles and when Levi P. Morton resigned his seat in Congress to accept the post of U. S. minister to France, Mr. Flower was nominated and elected to fill the vacancy. In 1891, having served several terms as congressman, he was nominated for the office of governor and elected over his opponent, J. Sloat Fassett, of Elmira, by a plurality of 44,000 votes. At the expiration of his term he gave up active politics and devoted his talents to business with such success that he soon became recognized as an authority in financial matters and at the time of his death he was generally looked upon as the leader in Wall street, where his business sagacity and shrewdness were held in the highest estimation.

In spite of his great wealth he was always a plain man, approachable and affable—one of the common people. He was honest, upright and respected by all. In politics he was a Democrat who put principle before policy, and as governor of the state, although he made some mistakes, his course was generally such as to win for him the respect and esteem of the people. In the last presidential campaign he found himself unable to support the vagaries of the Chicago platform and took an uncompromising stand in opposition to the election of Bryan. As a man, a citizen and a statesman he left a clean and honorable record and universal sorrow is felt, at his sudden death.

Government for the Philippines.

Secretary Long's expression regarding government for the Philippines is so reasonable that it will find favor all over the country except among a few of the impracticables and malignants. He declares that there is not the least intention of subjugating the Philippines. All that the President seeks to do, he remarks, is to preserve law and order in the islands, and if the islanders would co operate the President and the peace commission "would enter at once upon the work of their political regeneration, with a view to giving them all the privileges which the territories of the United States between the Pacific and the Atlantic now enjoy."

Of course the secretary knows the intentions and the desires of the President, He undoubtedly voices them in this instance. Nobody either in the administration or in the party to which the administration belongs ever had any desire to subjugate the islands. The subjugation talk was an invention of the Bryans, Laughlins, Hoars and the rest of the anti-expansionists. The purpose of the President has been to restore order in the islands, and then to talk of civil government afterward. Without order and a recognition of American sovereignty there can be no chance to set up any sort of a civil authority. The moment that order is restored and American sovereignty is recognized, the work of devising a civil government will receive attention. The President himself can not set up a civil authority that will have any permanence. The framing of a government which will succeed the military regime is a function of Congress, and will doubtless be attended to next winter.

The territorial form of government which the secretary mentions as being favored by the President does not necessarily mean a government like that which Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona have. It is more likely to be a regime on the Alaska order at first. Full territorial privileges may come in time, but it is not likely to be adopted at once. It is the desire of the American people to give the Filipinos all the home rule which they can use with safety to their own and American interests, and to increase their privileges as they can use them profitably. If the Filipinos had known the actual intentions of the administration in Washington and the desires of the American people there would have been no rebellion A few reckless leaders among the Filipinos and a corporal's guard of blatant renegades and falsifiers in the United States have deluded the natives of the islands into the belief that this country intended to put them back into the slavery like that from which we had just rescued them. Aguinaldo, in the Philippines, and Bryan, Hoar, Laughlin, Atkinson and a few other copperheads and degenerates in this country are responsible for all the bloodshed which has taken place in the Philippines, but which, despite the endeavors of these personages, is now apparently near its end — Globe Democrat.

Advertising in Street Cars.

Daily and weekly newspapers and magazine publishers should be interested in the published statement by the parties who have obtained control of the advertising privileges in a number of American street cars, running in the various cities in the United States, to the effect that they are using advertising cards in over 12,000 cars, charging from forty to fifty cents per card each month. There are about twenty-five cards in a car, and at forty cents apiece this would amount to ten dollars per car a month, or $120 a year; or, for 12,000 cars, $1,440,000 per annum. It has been estimated that $2,000,000 are anually diverted from the advertising columns of newspapers, magazines, and other legitimate publications, by advertising signs in street cars, for it is well known that prominent advertisers, at the beginning of each year, set aside a certain sum for advertising purposes, and distribute this among the magazines, newspapers, and other vehicles of publicity, the street cars included. Every dollar, therefore, diverted to the street cars is diverted from the legitimate advertising mediums.

The franchises of the street cars are granted for purposes of transportation, and every advertisement they contain is posted unlawfully. The newspaper association of the state of New York is calling the attention of our authorities to this fact, and is about to call upon the attorney-general to compel the removal of these advertising signs from all public conveyances Similar action should be taken by the associations in every other state, as the abuse is growing greater from year to year. Newspapers do not object to legitimate competition in any department of their business, but they have a right to object to a competition based upon illegal methods.—Leslie's Weekly.

Six Thousand Miles of Railroad.

It may be interesting to note the following statement of mileage of the New York Central, leased and operated lines, which shows the total miles of track east of Buffalo as 6,114.81.

It is, of course, generally known that some of the western lines have a greater mileage, but their tracks run through a number of sparsely settled states, while the trackage of the New York Central and leased lines is all in the densely populated states of New York and Pennsylvania, accommodating, by its numerous trains, millions of passengers each year.

Curious Fact.

Numerous arbitrations in the past sixteen years have declared the New York Central the only first-class line between New York and Buffalo. No wonder that it carries the bulk of the first-class travel. Its trains are fast and luxurious. Its tracks are four in number and smooth as a floor. Its equipment up to date. Its power is superior to any other in the world. You step from the car upon the platform of Grand Central Station in the center of the second city in the world, and on no other line from the West can this be done. Its motto—that of the Empire State — "Excelsior." — From "The Philistine."

As a Matter of Fact

Todtman

No house can do business
and sell goods below cost
The air is full of trade lies and the sensible people ought not to be fooled
Anything to sell goods seems to be the motto.
Of some of the clothing dealers
in the county.
But every inferior garment they sell Puts another black eye on their store
And every good man they dupe makes another good customer for us.
Our trade thrives by offering
Honest Goods at Honest Values.
It is truthful advertising that has put us where we are today;
Acknowledged by every body as the leaders of the clothing business
in Seneca County
We save you time and worry and we also save you money. There is no guess work about our clothing.
If you buy them from us they are right.
