MAYOR STEPHEN MAY SAYS FUNDS NEEDED FOR HOUSING TO HELP GOLDEN AGERS

Mayor Stephen May said recently that the City Council has approved borrowing $270,000 to buy land for a new elderly housing project at North Goodman Street and Carson Avenue.

The Mayor said the plan calls for the construction of a 15-story building with 145 housing units (48 efficiency and 97 one-bedroom units) on the one-half acre site.

May said: "This project, will take us one more stride towards our goal of 15,000 housing units for senior citizens during the decade of the 1970's. So far, about half those units have either been started, approved or are in process.

"This is humbling progress for a city which has such large numbers of senior citizens. This represents a major step in the progressive and comprehensive program the City has mounted to meet the needs of its 40,000 senior citizens."

The Mayor said the City is proposing to buy options to buy land from the Housing Corporation of America, clear the land and then sell it to the Housing Development Corporation — Greater Rochester, Inc., for development. Housing Corporation of America, is expected to construct the building.

May said this proposal has been approved by the Model Neighborhood Council and the Housing and Physical Development Task Force and the City Planning Commission.

HORTON ANNOUNCES GSA CONTRACT TO SINGER-GRAFLEX

Washington — Congressman Frank Horton has announced that the General Services Administration has awarded a contract that could amount to $661,206 in sales to the Singer Company, Graflex Inc., of Rochester. The contract runs from Dec. 1, 1972, to November 30, 1973, and is for an indefinite quantity of photographic and audiovisual equipment.

"This is further indication that our local economy can benefit from federal supply requirements, and that our local industries can continue to win confidence in Washington," Horton said.
