Harton Speaks At Dedication Of The Anthony L. Jordan Health Center

The following is the text of Congressman Horton's remarks at the Dedication of the Anthony L. Jordan Health Center, 82 Holland St., Rochester, N. Y., Sunday, Sept. 30th:

"Perhaps the most satisfying feeling one can have as a U. S. Congressman is that you have been a part of Federal action which has contributed in a way to answer the basic needs of the American people.

This certainly describes my thoughts two days ago, as I toured this beautiful health care facility. I had, of course, toured the makeshift Baden-Ormond Neighborhood Health Center before this facility was built. And I was serving in Congress before there was a health care facility located in this area. To say that I was pleased with what this center does, and will always be a highlight of my Congressional career - For the reason, I am deeply honored to have been asked to participate in this dedication ceremony.

Accordingly I lodged to get the necessary Federal financial support to provide the concrete, steel and the equipment for this facility, there is an every more expensive, aspect of construction, that I know. For this reason, I toured this facility, I was struck by the love and dedication that has gone forward those who came here for the first glimpse, it is not just concrete and steel, but the warming feeling within those walls which makes this center a fitting memorial to Dr. Anthony L. Jordan. Just as Dr. Jordan dedicated his life to help and his concern that for his forthcome and his single dedication, this wonderful center will become known more for its service than for its physical facilities.

The attractiveness of the facility goes far beyond this neighborhood, and beyond the City of Rochester. It represents of what a few years ago was experimental plans for community health center. Today, thanks to the farsightedness of many of the people on this platform, and to some enlightened federal programs, the people of the Greater Rochester area have a new and attractive place to receive the health care they need for family health. The Greater Rochester Health Network is an exciting addition to the health care opportunities open to area citizens.

I am proud and humbled to have been a part of the planning and execution of this center, and I want to express the gratitude of all those I represent for the dedication of the staff which has made this center a reality, and for providing such a living center for health care.

I also want to congratulate one-year subscription to Ebony Magazine, as a six-months subscription to Jet Magazine.

As a special attraction, a door prize will be given, sponsored by the Antique Archive. You can win a trip to Puerto Rico, including a stay at the fashionable Americana Hotel of Isla Verde. If you have the lucky ticket.
